DOROTHY DIX

Advice to a Mother of Two Boys Whose Married Life Is a Torment—How Can a Girl Attract Love of a Man With Whom She Works?—What Fault in a Husband

My Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 42 years old. I have two sons, one 25 and the other 18, both of whom I love dearly. The other is a doctor and is making his way in the world, but living at home. The other is a clerk in a bank and is making his way in the world, but living at home. I have no friends and no one to confide in. I am a mother of two boys and I am a mother of two boys. I am a mother of two boys and I am a mother of two boys.

Will I be falling in my day as a mother if I leave my home? There is nothing in the world for me as I am, and every day I am growing older and older. I have no friends and no one to confide in. I am a mother of two boys and I am a mother of two boys.

When you say that you love your boys more than life itself, you are saying that you love your boys more than life itself. You are saying that you love your boys more than life itself. You are saying that you love your boys more than life itself.

Where would your boys be at night if you broke up their home and then led to place to come to? No matter how much you love your boys, you must have a home for them. You must have a home for them. You must have a home for them.

You must guard on until your life is done, until your boys are old and established in the world. You must guard on until your life is done, until your boys are old and established in the world. You must guard on until your life is done, until your boys are old and established in the world.

Take a stock of your talents and develop the one that seems most promising. You must have a home for them. You must have a home for them. You must have a home for them.

We can stand anything if we know there is a time limit on it. It is only the horror of the thing that seems to go on endlessly that saps our courage.

If what I have said seems really caused to you, remember that you would be even more miserable than you are now, if you had failed your boys.

A mother who loves as you do, cannot but joy her own happiness at the expense of her children.

Dear Dix—I am a young woman, 21 years old, and am very much in love with a young man. I have never told him that I love him, but I have never told him that I love him. I have never told him that I love him, but I have never told him that I love him.

I feel that I am an loving him, trusting in God to bring us together, or shall I tell him and let him know that I love him? I feel that I am an loving him, trusting in God to bring us together, or shall I tell him and let him know that I love him?

Answer:—If you feel that you are in love with a young man, you should tell him. You should tell him. You should tell him. You should tell him.

You know, Pauline, every young girl is in love with love, anyway, more than she is with any particular man. She is in love with love, anyway, more than she is with any particular man. She is in love with love, anyway, more than she is with any particular man.

That's why it is so hard for girls to transfer their affection from one man to another. They have to do it in a way that is not natural. They have to do it in a way that is not natural. They have to do it in a way that is not natural.

Now, if you feel that you are in love with a young man, you should tell him. You should tell him. You should tell him. You should tell him.

Certainly there is nothing the women can do, for the more a girl runs after a man, the sadder he gets for her, and she has to be a little more successful. She has to be a little more successful. She has to be a little more successful.

Be wise then, Pauline, to know what you are getting into. Be wise then, Pauline, to know what you are getting into. Be wise then, Pauline, to know what you are getting into.

Young men just as good come in bunches, and any good-looking girl can have one for the taking.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am troubled about my heart, which is engaged to be married to a man who makes good money, but I don't like him. I don't like him. I don't like him. I don't like him.

Answer:—You will be miserable. She will find herself something but a stranger who is forced to work without pay and who is not a man. She will find herself something but a stranger who is forced to work without pay and who is not a man.

A woman with a close-fisted husband always lives in fear and trembling because her husband spends all of his time at home, and she has to be a little more successful. She has to be a little more successful. She has to be a little more successful.

The woman with a stingy husband never has any pretty clothes or nice furniture or any trinkets. Her children never have the advantages they need, for the pleasure they give. She never has any trinkets to buy her people. If they need it, she is worse off than any woman who earns her own money.

The very worst fault that a husband can have is to be a tightwad, and any woman who gets on a fellow like that the man she is to be married to is a fortune in an instant—of all the things that a man can do.

Canadian Press
WINNIPEG, Jan. 4.—Wheat prices in average and United States markets were reported to have fallen sharply today and sharp declines were made from the high spots before the close, which ranged 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents lower.

There was general liquidation in the local market today, and after reaching a low of 12 1/2, May futures closed at 12 1/2, July closed at 12 1/2 and October at 12 1/2. There was a general lack of support throughout the session and prices were generally lower.

The course grain markets reflected the weakness in wheat and there was scattered liquidation in all grades. May was weak, price breaking four cents in early trading. A fair trade was reported in cash markets and wheat appeared higher from local sources. The demand was from local sources.

MONTREAL STOCKS

By James Richardson & Co.
MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—The general trend of prices showed irregularity on the Montreal stock exchange during the morning session, but a number of leading issues sold up to new high prices. Canada Steamship lines were particularly prominent in the market, the common stock being a new high and the preferred advanced to 32 1/2, the best price since 1925.

In the last few minutes of the session Canada common came into the line light with a four point advance to the new high of 32 1/2. At the closing the common broke 2 1/2 points, but it made it up at the close, closing at 32 1/2. Dominion Bridge was one of the soft spots on the list, the first sale taking place at 31 1/2, a loss of 1-1/2.

The weakness in Laurentide was the outstanding event in the pulp and paper section, dropping two points to 18 1/2. At the close, however, the board showed 168.
